

A PRIVATE ESTATE

 SAHN
THE COURTYARD

A house built around a courtyard, and the hours it keeps.

SAHN — THE COURTYARD

Some places are visited.
Others stay with you.

This is not a stay to be booked. It is an estate to be lived in — slowly, and entirely your own.

AN EXPERIENCE PUBLICATION · VOLUME I

THE PHILOSOPHY

True luxury is almost invisible.

It is not gold, nor glass. It is felt — in the breadth of a room, the silence of a morning, the slow passage of light across stone.

It is space. It is privacy. It is time.

THE ARRIVAL

A long stone wall,
and the week left behind it.

NO RECEPTION · ONLY A THRESHOLD

WHY SAHN EXISTS

I did not want to build another destination. The world has enough of them. I wanted a place where families could gather without interruption — where conversations lasted longer than meals, where children disappeared into the garden, where no one reached for a schedule. Everything else came after that.

— THE FOUNDER

THE COURTYARD

Every home has a centre.
Few homes know it.

Every family needs a place to return to.

Ours grew around a tree.

The roof does not shelter the sky.

It frames it.

The only guest that never leaves.

THE ROOMS

Three rooms.
Three private worlds.

Each opening to its own pocket of sky and green.

A room should never compete for your attention.

Only hold it, gently.

THE TABLE

The meal ends.

The conversation rarely does.

Lunches that drift into afternoon.

Dinners that outlast the plates.

OCCASIONS

Some moments deserve witnesses.
Others deserve only family.

Some places welcome guests.
Others welcome only the people you bring.

One estate. One family.
One uninterrupted experience.

Some places are designed to impress.

SAHN was designed to stay with you long after you leave.

We would be glad to receive you.
